

Are you interested in embedding consumer participation within your service and processes?

WE'RE HERE TO HELP YOU

Is your organisation / project seeking input, advice and collaboration with people with lived or living experience of alcohol and other drug challenges, consumers, and family members and partners?

APSU is guided by people with Lived and Living Experience (LLE) supporting our community to have a voice and use their expertise in the range of consumer activities including high-level advisory committees, co-design, focus groups and training for professionals.

If your organisation wants to learn more about how to increase and support consumer impact on your projects we can help.

For general enquires about consumer participation email us at: apsu@sharc.org.au

What we can do for your organisation:

- Maintain a diverse membership base of consumers interested in participation activities.
- Work with organisations to design effective consumer participation activities that are inclusive and meaningful.
- Provide speakers for community groups, forums, conferences and training events.
- Recruit consumers for participation activities, including briefing and peer support.
- Train and prepare consumers to speak safely about their experiences.
- Adapt our foundational training to suit the needs of organisations and projects.
- Facilitate focus and other LLE groups and write reports on these activities.
- Provide Organisational Readiness Training for organisations establishing advisory and ongoing groups to best support the needs of participants and organisational goals.
